DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I in the reply filed on 10/30/06 is acknowledged.

the 3 species of (1) attractant, (2) subduing agent, and (3) trigger have not been selected, therefore, examiner assumes applicant to find the various attractants to be obvious variants of each other; the various subduing agents to be obvious variants of each other; and the various triggers to be obvious variants of each other.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, it is unclear how the (1) attractant is "configured", and how different figures would entice different animals. It is unclear how the (2) trigger is "configured", and how different figures would entice different animals.

(3) it is unclear how the attractant is configured to dissolve, and how in a predetermined {word or phrase missing?} pH, and how the pH is predetermined. (4), it is unclear how the subduing agent is coupled to trigger. , it is unclear how to subdue them.

Art Unit: 1615

In claim 2, it is unclear what are the meets and bounds of protection sought by the "energy release" terminology. This is not explained in the claim.

In claim 4, it is unclear how or what constitutes energy release, and in claim 8, what the chemical substance is.

The claims are indefinite and do not specifically claim and define the invention, as claim 1 is open to ambiguity and multiple interpretations.

There is no example of non-reactive materials, other than oil. Reference to figures may be of assistance.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The specification identifies "limited" subduing agents; metal or percussion or chemical reactants, not further defined or identified, or sponges, stated to result in energy release, but not explained as to how this leads to death. The protective materials are undefined or exemplified, except as mineral oil. However, mineral oil is not supported as a protective component of the claim 1 apparatus as shown as #108. The specification identifies a desire for species-specific control, by adjusting dose and size of apparatus components, and attractants; but only sugar and meat are mentioned, and it is left to the artisan to determine how much of what components are to be used to subdue a desired species. The specification does not present exemplification of effectiveness to subdue one species, but not harm another.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by FAJT 567518.

Art Unit: 1615

Wild animal (fish) control apparatus (figure 1) subdue undesired species of fish only (column 1, line 54-column 2, line 8). Reactive metals and chemicals include the alkali (thus Li) metals, Na, K with mineral oils (column 3, lines 54-66) are configured to couple with subduing agents-rotenone (column 3, lines 24-27) with triggering surfactants (column 3, lines 45-51). Commercial feed constitutes the attractant configured as pellet to entice the wild fish (column 4, bottom). Release of energy, though unstated, must result from consumption, as explained in column 4.
